

Portchester Playday Competition

In February 2007 a Unicef study was carried out surrounding the 'well-being' of children in the most affluent countries of the world.

Astoundingly - the United Kingdom came 21st out of 21 countries for child well-being!

In response to this damning report, the Portchester Extended Services & Children's Centre wants to do something practical to improve children's well-being in our area. So we are asking our local children, young people and their families to give us their ideas about:

"A Space to Enjoy Childhood"

You can help the partnership's consultation by entering our:

Art Competition

One lucky family in Portchester will win tickets to Intech – the fantastic science discovery centre and planetarium. Plus, everyone who enters will have the chance to enter a national competition to win a digital camera...at no extra cost for postage!

Children can use any type of art material to illustrate their "Space to Enjoy Childhood" artwork using the attached sheet: Painting, Collage or Photography to name but a few! So simply let imaginations run wild and tell us how your perfect play space would look like!

Please hand your competition entry into Portchester Community & Children's Centre by Monday 8th September 2008. The Children's Centre & Extended Services Partnership Group will select the lucky winner on Tuesday 9th September 2008.

Please note that all competition entries will be displayed at Portchester Community & Children's Centre until Tuesday 30th September - Please pop in and visit us at the Children's Centre to see our fantastic display.
